City Council honors Blue Ridge Bank for Property Donation

Seneca officials thanked Blue Ridge Bank for its recent donation of the property located at 416 East Main Street. “We thank and appreciate Blue Ridge Bank for partnering with the city to help develop the downtown,” said Mayor Dan Alexander.

During their regular monthly meeting in January, the City Council presented Kyle Thomas, President and Chief Executive Officer of Blue Ridge Bank, with a plaque thanking the bank for supporting downtown Seneca.

“Blue Ridge Bank has been proud to serve Oconee County since 1957,” said Thomas. “We took possession of this building in downtown Seneca, which we listed for sale. When we heard the city could utilize the building for the Police Department, our bank discussed the possibility of donating this property to The City of Seneca,” continued Thomas.

The donation will allow the city to install training rooms and additional office space for the Seneca Police Department. In addition, it will enable police to have a continuing presence in the downtown area.

“As Oconee County’s community bank, we want to support the communities and organizations who support us,” said Thomas. “By adding an additional Police Office building in downtown Seneca, the city will be a safer place to work, shop, and dine. After careful consideration, we knew this donation was the right thing to do. It was our pleasure to assist The City of Seneca by making this donation,” concluded Thomas.

“Blue Ridge Bank’s donation will provide much needed space for our Police Department,” said Mayor Alexander. “I appreciate the bank for their part in making Seneca what it is now and what it will be in the future,” concluded Alexander.

Seneca receives Improved Building Department ISO Rating

Residents should have lower insurance rates in the future thanks to the Building Code Effectiveness Grading Classification being highly-rated in the City of Seneca.

"The Insurance Services Office, Inc. (ISO) evaluated the City of Seneca Building Department," Ed Halbig, Planning and Development Director said. "The ISO is an independent statistical, rating and advisory organization that serves the property and casualty insurance industries. Their evaluations grade a building departments' effectiveness as to building construction regulation. With periodic evaluations, a city has an opportunity to improve its score, which is shown on a range from 1 to 10 with 1 being exemplary," Halbig added.

This is good news for residents as the ISO fire protection rating upgrade should translate into better insurance rates.

"The City of Seneca Department of Planning and Development's rating for the 2016 evaluation is a "4" for one and two family residential property and a "3" for commercial and industrial property, both considered to be highly rated," Halbig said.

This advisory material is relayed to insurance companies that subscribe to the ISO rating information. The lower the rating range, the lower the insurance costs can be for residents and business owners with participating insurance companies. According to the ISO, a listing of subscribing insurers is proprietary; therefore Seneca residents and business owners should contact their insurance carrier directly to see if they subscribe and if they provide any type of discount based on that rating.

"From the commercial side to the residential side, our fire rating has been upgraded," Mayor Dan Alexander said. "So, that is good, it shows things are getting done, and that will help lower the cost of insurance," the mayor added.

Insurers may use the Building Code Effectiveness Grading Classification. The ISO program will apply credits to new construction in Seneca that has been issued a Certificate of Occupancy in the year 2016 and forward.

"Owners of new construction for year 2016 and forward can speak with their insurance companies about any rating credits to individual property insurance policies in recognition of the City of Seneca's efforts to ensure effective building practices," Halbig concluded.
