12TH YEAR OF JAZZ!

POPULAR DOWNTOWN EVENT RETURNS FOR NEW SEASON!

Does the return of Jazz on the Alley mean it's spring? Of, course!

Does it mean we are excited to see all our Jazz friends again? Of, course!

For 12 years, Jazz has lifted our spirits and satisfied our need to leave the dreary days of winter behind, put on our dancing shoes, and spend the evening outdoors with family and friends.

This year Jazz on the Alley officially returns on April 1st with a stunning lineup already arranged for the first two months; but, as an added bonus, the event staff has lined up an exciting "prequel" or "special edition" of Jazz on March 25th. We'll open the season for Jazz a week early with the ever-popular "Stone Echo."

We are looking forward to seeing old friends, making new friends, and moving forward with hope and optimism for 2021! Please join us on March 25th!

BASF makes donation for “Jaws of Life”

BASF donated nearly $12,000 to the Seneca Fire Department to provide a new rescue tool for firefighters who need to free someone trapped in a vehicle after an accident or other rescues in small places. The donation will allow the department to purchase a new Genesis FORCE extrication tool.

The new equipment will have a battery pack, giving rescue personnel more flexibility when needed. Projections are that the equipment will be available for use by the end of March.

Mayor Dan Alexander, Chief Richie Caudill, and members of the Seneca Fire Department, welcome BASF employees Greg Reid, Susan Giardina and site director Elba Lizardi when they recently visited the fire department to present a check for $11,983 for extrication equipment.

UPCOMING CHANGES & ADDITIONS TO CITY FESTIVALS

Because of ongoing Covid-19 concerns, the Seneca Music Fest will not be held this year; instead, that event will be combined with the City's Independence celebration now slated for July 3rd at Gignilliat Field. Some of the entertainment scheduled for Seneca Music Fest will be shifted to July 3rd. The Independence celebration will feature The Tams, Eagle's Wing, Bad Creek, and other musical acts. Fireworks will still be an important part of the festivities.

This change in events and schedules will only apply for this year, and hopefully City festivals will return to their normal schedules in 2022. Another change is the announcement that the laser show previously planned for the Seneca Music Fest will now be held at Norton-Thompson Park after Jazz on the Alley on May 27th.

Resulting from a recommendation coming from the City's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion task force, the City plans two additional events: Juneteenth to be held on June 19th at Norton-Thompson Park, and a fall celebration of Hispanic heritage to be held downtown as well.

RESTRIPING POSSIBLE FOR EAST NORTH FIRST ST

The Seneca Improvements Corporation is moving forward with a design plan for a possible restriping of sections of East North First Street to encourage traffic calming and provide a safer environment for pedestrians. The project would call for restriping a section of the heavily traveled throughfare from approximately the area of Vinson Street to the general area of the Pro Custom & Tire shop on West North First street near the corner of North Pine Street. The proposed plan would be developed after a feasibility study that would determine whether the four lanes of traffic could possibly be cut to two lanes.

Initially a study will be completed by a Greenville engineering firm before a plan will be submitted to the SC Department of Transportation for approval. The entire project could take up to six months and final approval will be needed from Seneca City Council with public input before moving ahead with the project.

The plan is part of a downtown master plan created by McMillan, Pazdan and Smith Architects and is funded by proceeds of the sale of the downtown Hometown Building.
